
AAA Copyright Agreement

In the event that this manuscript is accepted for conference presentation, acknowledging due consideration, the Author agrees to submit either an abstract or a version of this manuscript (such abstract or version will hereafter be called the "Work") for subsequent publication by the American Academy of Advertising. And in the event that the Author does not submit an abstract or version of the manuscript by the deadline for publication, the manuscript as originally submitted to the AAA shall become the Work.

The Author further agrees that submission of the Work also constitutes assignment of the copyright and all subsidiary rights associated with the Work to the American Academy of Advertising (AAA), for publication and distribution worldwide. This includes, but is not limited to, the right to publish the Work as AAA deems proper and within the bounds of acceptable scholarly usage, e.g., within a conference proceedings or other collective work, in print, electronic, or any other form, as well as distribution through library and commercial database services.

The Author warrants that:

- (a) there is no other author of the Work not disclosed herein;
- (b) the Work has not been previously published, in whole or in part in any medium including electronic media; or, in the case of a previously published work, the author has secured permission from the original publisher, if required, to publish the Work for worldwide distribution;
- (c) the Work does not violate any copyright or other proprietary right, and the Author has secured permission to reproduce any quotation and/or illustrative material and/or artwork on which there are copyrights or other proprietary rights, and will provide a copy of the permission to the AAA representative indicated on this agreement.

(d) the Work contains no statements known to be false and no material that is libelous or in any way unlawful;

(e) the Author will protect the AAA against loss by reason of any litigation which may be brought due to violation of any agreement or warranty by the Author contained in this Copyright Agreement.

The Author retains the right to photocopy or make single electronic copies of the Work for personal use, including for classroom use, or for the personal use of colleagues, provided the copies are not offered for sale and are not distributed in a systematic way outside the Author's employing institution or company (e.g., via an e-mail list or public file server). Posting of the Work on a secure network (not accessible to the public) within the Author's employing institution or company is permitted.

*Note: All copies, paper or electronic, or other use of the information must include an indication of the AAA copyright and a full citation of the AAA publication in which it appeared. Please refer requests for all uses not included above, including the authorization of third parties to reproduce or otherwise use all or part of the article (including figures and tables) to the Publications Committee of the AAA.

The undersigned hereby represents that he or she, as lead author of the Work, is signing on behalf of all authors and will inform any co-author(s) of the terms of this Copyright Agreement, and declares that any person named as co-author of the Work is aware of the fact and has agreed to be so named.
